

ALLIED AIR COMMAND

BIOGRAPHY

General Tod D. Wolters Commander Allied Air Command

General Tod D. Wolters is Commander, Allied Air Command headquartered at Ramstein Air Base, Germany; and Director, Joint Air Power Competence Centre at Kalkar, Germany.

In his capacity as Commander, Allied Air Command, General Wolters is responsible to the Supreme Allied Commander Europe for the Air and Missile Defence of NATO Alliance member nations during peacetime operations. His command ensures the preservation of Alliance territorial integrity from Northern Norway to Southern Italy and from the Azores to Eastern Turkey, including every European NATO nation. Furthermore, in the event of a joint NATO operation he is the responsible commander of the Air Component.

General Wolters is also Commander, U.S. Air Forces in Europe and U.S. Air Forces Africa. In this capacity, he commands U.S. airpower across more than 19 million square miles. This area also includes 104 countries in Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East, the Arctic, Atlantic and Indian Oceans, possesses more than a quarter of the world's population, and generates more than a quarter of the world's gross domestic product.

General Wolters received his commission in 1982 as a graduate from the U.S. Air Force Academy. He has commanded a fighter squadron, an operations group, three wings, the Air and Space Expeditionary Task Force-Afghanistan, and a component Numbered Air Force. General Wolters fought in operations Desert Storm, Southern Watch, Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. He also served in the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force as Director of Legislative Liaison and in Headquarters' staff positions at U.S. Pacific Command, Headquarters U.S. Air Force, and Air Force Space Command. In his last duty assignment, the general served as the Director for Operations, The Joint Staff, Washington, D.C.

General Wolters is a command pilot with more than 5,000 flying hours.
